MISSED $2,500 AFTER CALLERS HAD GONE AWAY

Three Men Went to See Jacob Several Others Who Had Schuster in Response to "Ad."

GRABBED AND HELD ONE

Captive Released on Promise bursting to Find the Others, but He Failed to Return.

Onite a spell ago Jacob Schuster, of able to go to their homes. No. 301 East Seventy-eighth street, decided that he would like to sell his em-broidery works at No. 42 East Seventy-first street and move his plant to Brook-yn While twenty-five men, mostly first street and move his plant to Brook-lyn, so he advertised. On April 5 three tive shop. Just as they entered his little came a deafening raport, and in an inoffice he put $2,500 in bills in his safe but he forgot to turn the combination Something called him out into the workroom. When he got back two of the men were gone. A terrible thought come to Schuster. He vanker open the safe. The $2.500 was cone, too | escaped with slight injuries. Scrusies laid detaining hands on the rding to his story the thirl man store he had no hand in the robbery to hold it as security until he returned with his two companions. The trusting Schuster believed the stranger. He accepted the fifty and let his captive go. Then he sail down to wall for him to street. He saw three small boys

Then he sit, lown to wall the has been bring his triends back. He has been waiting ever since.

The police of the One Hundred and Pourth street station have been helping him in his search for the trio. Last night Schuster struck a trail. Sergit O'Connor went with him to No. 58 Fast O'Connor the hindred and School street, and on his complaint arrested Louis Muller, who lives there. As they were leaving the house with the presoner Muller said something in Yiddish to a woman, who husried away. O'Connor turned Muller over to a passing policeman and followed the woman. She went around to No. 61 Fast One Hundred and Third street, where O'Connor found Samuel Hokoks and arrested tim.

In the Harlem Police Court to-day Schuster said Muller and the man actitude the weight name were the two vanished callers of April 5. Magistrate Steinert held them in hends of $6,000 each for further examination on Monday.
